Dear Mohammad
Salaam. I do not know or hear of Mr. Al fayoumi. In the internet, I found Mohammad Ibrahim AlFayoumi, an Egyptian scholar , works in AlAzhar Univ in Mansooraa, Egypt. Check the name in Arabic. I know of no Jordanian who worked on Al-Tusi. There was Ibrahim Al Fayoumi< a prof of Arabic in Yarmouk Univ. He died several years ago.
As for Passport I am sending it now. For the abstract, I have to get the manuscript through our university library which may take 2 weeks.
AbdulMajid Nusayr

Dear Professor Bagheri,
I want to accept your offer. A tentative title of my speech is 'Tusi's tahrir of the Elements and its Sanskrit translation'. I am now preparing some documents for the Third Islamic Studies conference held in Kyoto in December.

I am invited to this conference as a discussant. I will write the abstract as soon as possible.

I have some inquires. How many minutes I have in the conference. My wife wants to visit Tehran. She supports her airfare by herself. Is it possible for her also to get her own visa? With best wishes.

Dear Mohammad,

Here is my proposal for the abstract of the contribution.

It is slightly longer than 500 words (560). If this is a problem, then please let me know.

If you have other comments to this draft, then please also let me know, especially since you are a co-author. One other question: how much time does a speaker have during the conference?

Hello ,

Thank you so much for thinking of me and for inviting me to this conference. I would be happy to attend and am looking forward to it.

The title of my paper is: Probative Reasoning in Nasir al-Din al-Tusi's Astronomy

Dear Bagheri-sensei,

Shab be-kheyr,

I guess that you may enjoy consecutive holidays relative to 'Ashura, which I first experience in Iran. Now, drums are booming out from an avenue near my apartment.

Following your suggestion, I revised my abstract, which doubled in volume (I hope also in contents...). I attached it to this mail. I must zijas that I mentioned in this abstract as soon as possible. I am looking forward to founding new facts through reading it. I express to you my gratitude for giving me many precious opportunities and useful suggestion.

Best wishes,

Dear Sirs,

This is to acknowledge receipt of your kind invitation, which has reached me today, 18. December 2010. Of course it will not be possible to send you an abstract on the same day. However, I suppose I shall try to do something in relation to Tusi's Ismaili connection, possibly a comparison with 'Aziz-e Nasafi. Please let me know when you really need to have my abstract. Thank you very much!

Yours sincerely,

Hermann Landolt

Dear Prof. Irani,

Thank you for the kind invitation. Unfortunately, I cannot participate at the conference though there are some interesting Chinese texts on the "colleague" of Nasir ad-Din, Jamal ad-din Muhammad ibn Tāhir , who went to China bringing among other astronomical instruments a terrestrial globe (13th century!).

However, I wish you much success for the conference.

So thanks for your comment. Of course I see that your present abstract is a little longer (the former abstract was too short). It would be more helpful if you send an abstract which is even longer (e.g. twice) and naturally more informative. We plan to publish the abstracts in a booklet.

Dear Mohammad,

I am really just beginning to prepare the talk now and cannot supply further details on it until I have done further work. Currently I am trying to do reading for the talk while on holidays with my son, here in the Netherlands, and then with my wife's family on Cyprus, so I think it will be late January before I have any real detail about what I am going to say. It is too bad that I did not get a bit longer notice of the conference, and I did not have a suitable talk ready. I quite understand if this causes too many problems. Much as I would like to participate, there will be no hard feelings on my part if you decide that it would be best to postpone my visit to Iran until another time when a longer notice would give me ample time to prepare the sort of abstract you need.

I'm very happy to hear that you can arrange things so that I can proceed with my preparation for the talk.

Naturally, if I see in the next few days that I can provide more details about what I will say I will send you an enlarged abstract.

As for the period of my stay, I suggest the period Feb. 22 - Mar. 1 (so, I would arrive on Feb.22 and leave on Mar. 1). Your conference could take care of the first five nights and I could pay for the next three. Is that agreeable with you? Once you have confirmed that these dates are o.k. I will go ahead and book my tickets, regular economy class, from Vancouver to Teheran. I will be stopping both directions for a couple of days in Amsterdam because a direct flight from Vancouver to Teheran (or Teheran to Vancouver) would just be too exhausting for me.

I will start checking the airfares and will let you know what the total would be, so that you can confirm you are o.k. with that.

With best wishes,

Dear Len,

Your proposed days are OK. For the days not covered by the Conference, I can receive you in my house. It is also possible to arrange your stay in the guest-house of the University of Tehran which is a comfortable place near the academic centers and book markets.

Please keep in mind that you can stay here as long as you want. The only restriction may be due to the period of the visa. I wish to take you to the green and beautiful area of Gilan (Kushyar ibn Labban's homeland) where we have made some sundials. We can also visit Mazandaran, the homeland of Bizhan ibn Rustam.

Best wishes, Mohammad

Thank you very much for your prompt reply and for settling the reimbursement of travel for me and Sally; I received an email from mirasmaktoob this morning to that effect. As far as other possible speakers from McGill, Adam Gacek and Robert Wisnovsky have told me they will regrettably not be able to come. Taro Mimura, Sergei Tourkin, and Ihsan Fazlioglu would like to come but won't be able to unless travel is reimbursed. I would like to recommend that, if possible, the organizers pay the travel expenses for Prof. Fazlioglu. He is an associate professor at Istanbul University and a visiting professor here at McGill. I very much admire his work and consider him one of the most important scholars of Islamic science and philosophy of his generation. His proposed paper on Tusi's conception of nafs al-amr is important and opens up new areas in the history of Islamic philosophy. Furthermore, he has never been to Iran and would very much like to go. (As you know, Tourkin and Mimura have already been to Iran.) So if there are funds for only one scholar, I would suggest they go to Prof. Fazlioglu. Many thanks again for all your help and hard work; I know how much goes into organizing a conference.
